Dear Hiring Manager,

Since as far as I can remember, knowledge and challenges have always peaked my interest, I have always explored, learnt, applied and succeed in my endeavors. My education and work experience are a perfect example of how open and dedicated I'm to new opportunity, fields and experiences. I love working with the pioneers who strive hard to make a change in the world and when I saw this opening for "Business Analyst @Etisalat", I just knew this is my calling.

With an under graduation in Aeronautical Engineering, master's in data science, I have a solid analytical mindset. I have worked across multiple discipline and job roles, from a BPO call center to Business Analyst, from Tech Support to Business Analytics, from Support to Ecommerce to Construction; I hold a huge amount of practical experience and apply them on a regular basis. As an example, I have introduced my current employer, who are pioneers in construction industry, to business analytics. I have single handedly built SOP's, Metrics, Data pipelines and visualization. Learnt a new programing language, built a whole website, and hosted all the visualization there so that the whole leadership can see how their business is doing. Also, built a business intelligence team, hired required talent, and made them self-reliant.

Was it a lot of work, definitely. But with the support from my employer and my grit, we achieved something great. I'm confident working for Etisalat will be more challenging and empowering and I get to do things which will reach a lot of people and I can be a part of the change.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward for an opportunity to interview, so that I can show case my skill sets and experience and to be a part of Etisalat's vision and mission.

Sincerely,

Nikhil Gangadharappa
